Lady Liberty Library Reader is a hybrid format, modelled on an independent magazine, theory reader, and visual archive. The reader documents, celebrates, and certifies highlights from ten years of the Austrian-American artist Nina Prader's practice under the label and artist name Lady Liberty Press. Libraries and monuments made of printed matter are the pillars of Nina Prader's fine art practice, including inspirational references, and independent and interdependent content on independent publishing.

This reader showcases resources, publishing companions, and guiding texts for the first time in one bound place—new and herstoric. A rallying call to plant libraries, everywhere!
